

Gathering and Collating Books, Automatically.

Whether our client's books are saddle stitched, thin perfect-bound, padded or glued, they turn to us for automatic gathering and collating. Binding Edge is the natural solution, able to gather and collate these books automatically, cutting both time and costly handling. The automation includes the option of shrink wrapping and many times, paper banding, which can be printed to distinguish sections, series or titles. We give a competitive edge to our clients by eliminating any manual handling in finishing work, a drain on their resources and deadlines.

The benefits of this capability are that Binding Edge is able to complete these tasks with individual specifications automatically, from start to finish, allowing our clients to focus on their own areas of expertise. It is one capability in a long list that further sets Binding Edge a step above with competitive efficiency and pricing.
